

The Weekly Register

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

OUR TERMS.

We trust our subscribers will pardon us, when we remind them that our terms are cash in advance—or at least within two weeks from the date of subscription. We have put the price of our paper at the very lowest living figure, as an inducement for prompt payment, and will be compelled, therefore, to insist that those who commence with the volume call at once at the Captain's office and "fork."

Frost.—Jack Frost paid an unceremonious visit to these parts on Wednesday morning. We learn however, that he did not do the fruit and vegetables any damage.

When we see a secession preacher.—we fancy we see one who has "stole the liver of heaven to serve the devil in."

The Wheat Crop.—We learn from citizens who reside in the country that the wheat crop of Mason county presents at this time unusual promise.

We notice that Mr. John C. Gillmore the contractor for repairing the streets of this town, has been leveling Main st., preparatory to grading. The streets for a long time have been almost impassible.

Hon. C. V. Whaley, Hon. J. B. Blair, and Hon. John S. Canfield, have our thanks for various public documents.

This test War news we publish, compels the omission of several articles intended for this issue.

The M. E. Church is undergoing repairs and will be opened for Sabbath School on Sabbath May the 25th, at 8 o'clock, A. M., and preaching at 10 o'clock. All who feel an interest in the Sabbath school are requested to be present at the opening of the school to participate in the organization, &c. C. KING.

ATTENTION!

The "Union Home Guards" are requested to meet at the Court-House on Saturday next, at 4 o'clock. Business of importance to transact.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of S. Hayward & Son, Gallipolis Ohio, to be found in another column. They have just received a new lot of furniture, which they offer at the lowest figures. Persons wishing anything their line, would do well to give them a call.

Tickets.

We are now prepared to print election tickets upon the shortest notice, for State and county officers. Terms, 50 cts. per hundred or $1 per thousand. Candidates in want of tickets will please send in their orders. The cash must in all cases accompany the orders, otherwise they will not be attended to.

Body Found.

The body of man, apparently about 30 years of age, was discovered floating in the river, opposite this place, and brought to shore. A coroner's jury was empaneled, and an inquest held. The jury examined the body and returned a verdict, that the deceased came to his death by accidentally falling from a steamer or otherwise.

He had no papers about his person indicating his name or his residence.

The Ravenswood Chronicle says: No man is rich enough to engage in trade who is too poor to advertise, for the very reason that in this day of the world no man succeeds in business who does not advertise, and that liberally, too.—No man desires to begin business and then fail. Show us the man who pays the most for advertising, and we will show him to be the one who has the most customers, the best profits, and makes the most money, and what is better—never is obliged to compound with his creditors. Think of these things, then act.

Point Pleasant Academy.

This institution was reopened on Monday last, the 12th inst., under the charge of G. W. Brown, L. L. B. A good teacher has long been needed in this place. There are scores of children in town in whose education no one—not even their parents—seem to take any interest. This is all wrong. In a few years they will be grown into the statue of men and woman, without knowledge and wholly unfit to battle with the realities of life. No parent can be so indifferent to the welfare of his children as to permit them to grow up in ignorance and their destiny for all coming time their hopes and their prospects.—See Advertisement.

We like General Fremont's policy relative to the guerilla warfare of Western Virginia, and the manner in which he intends to treat the outlaws and murderers, with the punishment they so justly deserve whenever they fall into his hands; and with his knowledge of mountain warfare, we have no doubt, but that he will get a goodly number of them. We see no good reason why they should not have justice meted out to them as well as other criminals. They are not only guilty of the highest crime known to our law—they are guilty of murdering inoffensive citizens who have the firmness and moral courage to stand up for, and defend the government—a government which we have only an estate tail in, and are enjoined by the most solemn instrument, the American eye ever witnessed, (the Constitution) to hand it down to our posterity unimpaired,—and they take it under the same obligation to hand it down to their posterity ad infinitum, making it a perpetual instrument and a sheet anchor for future generations. We have confidence in General Fremont, and believe that he will carry out his policy in regard to bush-whackers, guerillas, &c. Several have already been hung.

But while we speak of armed traitors and assassins, we must not forget that we have in our own village—in the loyal county of Mason, traitors of the deep-dye, who would do anything in their power to overthrow out dearly loved institutions, and invite the Southern vandals to come in and reduce our town to ashes and murder our citizens. We understand they have regular meetings every night, for what purpose we know not, but we are satisfied that it is not for any good. These self-same traitors have all taken the oath of allegiance and some of them are under bond for their good behavior.

We understand that a certain rebel living just outside of town, says that he can raise enough men of his stripe to take this place, and that Hutchinson and the Newmans, and other traitors that have left here can come back if they wish, and that he can and will protect them, and we dare not harm a hair on their heads. We will just say to that individual whenever he feels like "going in," to muster out his forces and attempt a reality of his assertion. We think that he will in all probability find more opposition than he has any idea of. Let him extend his protection to his traitor-brethren and invite them back, and he will then see if they can be protected and tolerated amongst us. The people of the county have decided different, and intend to carry their resolutions into effect, if these traitors attempt to force themselves back upon us. We have no sympathy for traitors, and if they don't like us and our government the sooner they leave the better.

The following, we clip from the Gallipolis Journal:

A scesher by the name of Ralston, who some months since was arrested at Point Pleasant and sent on a voyage to Columbus, for the benefit of his patriotism, but afterwards released on taking the oath, paid a visit to Gallipolis on Monday last, and soon made himself conspicuous, by his loud mouthed denunciations of old Abe Lincoln and his abolition thieving, plundering, hordes of soldiers. He asserted that Jeff. Davis and his men, were fighting for the Constitution and laws, and were the only true Union men. In the usual style of blatant secessionism, he vilified and abused every thing connected with the Government, and highly praised and justified the cause of the rebels. In "bobbin' around," he "bobbed" into the store of John Dages, where his doctrines were decidedly unpopular, whereupon notice being given C. G. of the 60th O. V., a squad of the boys he had been so basely slandering waited upon him, and tendered him lodgings with Mr. Wm. Cavin in the county jail, where he now lies a prisoner. Better swear him again and let him go—down below. His arrest was unquestionably illegal, according to Breckinridge Democracy, and clearly in violation of the right of free speech, "so dear to sceschers, so formidable to free-men only." He had not done any harm, not he. It is all wrong, swear him and let him out. Why burden the county with expense for such a poor contemptible traitor.

It is claimed that the ram Manassas, which very nearly demolished one of our vessels by a single butt, has the most formidable butt of any creature in the world except Humphrey Marshall.

The rebels have one hundred and four Brigadier Generals. A close statistician has been engaged, they say, to compute the number of Union ditto, and hopes to get through the calculation by next Fall.

A sister of Gen. McClellan resides in Alabama, and a nephew of his was in the battle of Shiloh, fighting for the rebels.

The Boston Post says that Buckner and Tilghman are now in close confinement at Fort Warren, but are permitted to walk about the ramparts. Governor Andrew visited the Fort the other day, and the customary salute was fired.—Buckner happened to be nearly in range of the gun; and had just time to jump aside when it was discharged. The force of the wind from the cannon, however, precipitated him heels over head down the embankments injuring his dignity, though not his body very much. Buckner is fond of whisky and consumes liberal quantities of—purchased of course, from his own funds, of which he appears to be well supplied. He loves the pipe equally well. Though naturally of a jolly temperament, his spirits have not been so cheerful of late as when he first arrived at the fort. The rapidly sinking condition of the rebel cause may have something to do with this.

Western Virginia Volunteers.
Western Virginia has not obtained, perhaps, as much credit as she deserves for her patriotism, in furnishing volunteers for the Union army. It is said that her people have been anxious to obtain the protection of the United States forces, but have been unwilling to contribute their proportion of men to carry on the war. There are now twelve complete regiments of Virginia volunteers serving in the war. Some of these regiments have received a large number of their recruits from Pennsylvania and Ohio, but it is believed by those best informed, that two-thirds of the men composing those regiments are Virginians, and that Virginia's contribution to the army amounts to fully eight thousand men.—When it is remembered that at none of the late elections held in that State was there more than 35,000 Union votes cast, it must be conceded that the Union men of Western Virginia are not behind their brethren of other States in devotion to their country.—[Cincinnati Gazette.]

The Government will be receiving at this post within the next two weeks about 1400 mules, and 600 horses for Gen. Fremont's division. They are to be inspected here, and passed over to Capt. Moulton, by whom the money will be paid out. A round sum will be required for this purpose, and those who have claims of any other nature, must hold them till the bills are paid. The exigencies of the service, render it imperatively necessary that Gen. Fremont should be in the field without delay. Be patient, friends, and you will get along just as fast. The Quartermaster is exerting himself to the utmost to procure the "needful" for you, but he can only pay as directed, and these new claims have the preference at present.—[Gal. Jour.]
